What is a Gastroscopy?

A gastroscopy is an examination of the upper digestive tract (the oesophagus, stomach and duodenum). To do this, they will use a long, thin, flexible tube containing a camera and a light to view the lining of your stomach in order to suggest the best course of treatment for you. This is a safe and highly effective diagnostic technique that is more accurate than x-rays and much simpler than exploratory surgery. You will be given a sedative so that you are not awake for the procedure.
